

Investor distancing in 2020

Key findings from the report

Only 1 company held a virtual meeting that had both live Q&A and live voting.

Only 6 companies offered their shareholders a chance to interact during meetings.

11 companies held AGMs lasting less than 10 minutes; 2 companies held the shortest AGMs at under 8 minutes long.

Retail investors have a clear preference for hybrid meetings, followed by face-to-face meetings, compared to fully virtual meetings, for the post-Covid era.