He shies away from the glare of publicity. He maintains a low profile, preferring to work from the background. But his unseen hand works wonders for many projects, even in an enjoyable pursuit like the game of golf. And at Tuesday's Business Times Corporate Golf League 2015 prize presentation, he had to be thrust onto the stage to share a very joyous occasion with his staff and guests.

Team Boustead (below) had just won the BT League's Open Category title – only in his second competitive year – and the players were already clinking glasses of champagne on the stage.

Wong Fong Fui, or FF as he is popularly known, the chairman and group CEO of Boustead Singapore, had to be coaxed to join in the celebrations on stage.

And there were louder cheers when the affable Wong, 68, who had supported and encouraged the team with his mere presence at the event, walked up to stand with captain Adrian Chu and the team beside the handsome trophy.

Wong, who bought the company whose brand name has been around in Singapore since 1828, in 1996, is also a major supporter of the popular league, now into its seventh year.

Boustead Singapore Limited is a global infrastructure-related engineering services and geo-spatial technology group listed on the Singapore Exchange.

Headquartered in Singapore, the company's core businesses are in the development of key infrastructure which supports economic growth in the public and private sectors of emerging markets.

Team Boustead won the title by a convincing seven points over Team Emerio in the six-leg event competed by 16 companies.

The team totalled 534 points, ahead of Emerio (527), Team CITI (524), Abeo Electra (514) and Seagull Gayatri (511), who were all in contention at one stage or another.

The total was decided was over five of the six legs (held at at Sentosa's Tanjong, Raffles' Lake, Tanah Merah's Tampines, SICC's Island, Seletar), with the final leg results at Serapong mandatory to count.

Boustead's star player was William Tay, who played in all six legs and finished top three in the individual standings a few times.

Team captain Adrian Chu, who said that the team engaged Tay after he won the Boustead Projects golf tournament, labels him "Boustead's MVP".

The event also attracted a host of sponsors, among them presenting sponsor Audi Singapore and Cerebos.

Emerio team captain Harish Nim is flanked by wife Seema (right) and staffer Nikkie during the BT Corporate Golf League final night when the runners-up also received tremendous backing from other supporters.

Team CITI finished a creditable third
