Singapore shares continue to tumble; STI sheds 2.2%

Across the broader market, decliners outnumbered advancers 414 to 203 after 2b shares worth S$2.9b change hands. BY BENJAMIN CHER

THE Straits Times Index (STI) closed down on Wednesday (Apr 9), mirroring most regional indices.

The STI fell 2.2 per cent or 75.78 points to 3,393.69.

The trio of local banks continued their decline on Wednesday, with DBS down 2.2 per cent or S$0.84 at S$37.16. OCBC declined 2.6 per cent or S$0.39 to S$14.42 and UOB closed 3.5 per cent or S$1.14 lower at S$30.99.

The top gainer was Singtel, which rose 1.2 per cent or S$0.04 to S$3.40.

The biggest loser was Mapletree Logistics Trust (MLT), which fell 8.7 per cent or S$0.10 to close at S$1.05.

Across the broader market, decliners outnumbered advancers 414 to 203 after two billion shares worth S$2.9 billion changed hands.

Most major indices across the region ended lower, with the Kospi down 1.7 per cent, the Nikkei 225 falling 3.9 per cent and the KLCI shedding 3 per cent. However, Hong Kong's Hang Seng Index inched up 0.7 per cent.

The STI's concentration on banking stocks is serving as headwinds, said Yeap Jun Rong, market strategist at IG. The banking sector made up over 50 per cent of the index's weight in recent times, making the STI sensitive to shifts in Fed policy, with investors pricing in four 25-basis-point rate cuts in 2025.

"Any deterioration in growth conditions ahead could also create a more challenging environment for the banks – in terms of weaker loan demand, tighter net interest margins, higher credit risks and softer wealth management activities."

Singapore equities might see a near-term bounce on any positive news. However, the plunge of the STI to a new low since September 2024 could threaten a shift in market structure and result in a new low, said Yeap.

US asset sell-off hammers greenback against euro

THE US dollar dropped versus safe-haven currencies and the euro on Wednesday (Apr 9) as investors worried about the economic impact of US tariffs, which spooked the world's equity markets.

US President Donald Trump's "reciprocal" tariffs on dozens of countries took effect on Wednesday.

This included massive 104 per cent duties on Chinese goods. Beijing retaliated with an 84 per cent tariff on US goods from Thursday, deepening a global trade war.

Analysts said recent developments significantly increase the risk of a US recession.

The greenback dropped 1.05 per cent against the safe-haven yen to 144.70 and 0.90 per cent versus the Swiss franc after hitting a fresh six-month low at 0.8379.

"We are witnessing a simultaneous collapse in the price of all US assets including equities, the US dollar versus alternative reserve FX and the bond market," said George Saravelos, global head of forex research at Deutsche Bank.

"We are entering uncharted territory," he added, arguing that "the US administration policy is encouraging a trend towards de-dollarisation".

Based on the sharp tightening of swap spreads, some market participants believe that investors including hedge funds have been selling liquid assets such as US government bonds to meet margin calls due to portfolio losses across asset classes.

Some hedge funds have offloaded stocks as the market plunge forces them to curtail trading using borrowed cash.

The euro jumped, helped by reports Germany's conservatives had reached a deal with the Social Democrats to form a government, easing political concerns in the European Union's (EU) largest economy.

The single currency firmed 0.7 per cent to US$1.1033, creeping back towards last week's peak at US$1.1147.

Citi analysts cut their 2025 eurozone growth forecast from 1 per cent to 0.8 per cent and their 2026 forecast from 1.3 per cent to 0.6 per cent.

The greenback was down 0.5 per cent versus the yuan offshore at 7.387, after reaching an all-time high at 7.4288.

"Weakness in the renminbi (yuan) continues to reflect building speculation over the potential for bigger devaluation in response to the intensifying trade war between the US and China," said Lee Hardman, senior currency analyst at MUFG.

The People's Bank of China will not allow sharp yuan declines and has asked major state-owned banks to reduce US dollar purchases, sources told Reuters on Wednesday.

Some analysts argued that, beyond the yen's relative safe-haven status, Japan's macroeconomic backdrop remains relatively strong, and rate differentials are expected to continue to favour Japan.

Bank of Japan governor Kazuo Ueda suggested the chance of a pause in interest rate hikes as US tariffs jolt markets. REUTERS
