

What is the IPCC?

The Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) is the United Nations body for assessing the science related to climate change

Main activity

Preparation of reports assessing state of knowledge of climate change

3 working groups

1. Physical science basis

2. Impacts, adaptation and vulnerability

3. Mitigation of climate change