Proposed changes for non-residential developers*

- Obtain sale licence before they can sell units in uncompleted non-residential projects with more than 4 strata units. Developers will have to meet minimum qualifying requirements before they can obtain the sale licence.

- Open and maintain a project account

- Provide basic and accurate information on project in advertisements

- Provide additional information on project before accepting a booking fee from a prospective buyer

- Show units to depict the actual units accurately

- Obtain buyers' consent for changes to the project

- Set aside amount for defects rectification
