

S&P 500 index quarterly timeframe

S&P 500 index is currently moving in a blow-off phase. Watch the quarterly close closely for any sign of weakness when the next bearish quarter appears. High probability of seeing a market top once the second consecutive bearish quarter forms. Until then, the general equity market should continue to climb higher.

