Singapore shares pull back amid cautious sentiment

BOTH Straits Times Index (STI) and the iEdge Singapore Next 50 Index finished lower on Friday (Dec 5), as concerns on the US economy continued to weigh on local stocks.

The STI, Singapore's blue-chip barometer, dipped less than 0.1 per cent or 3.78 points to 4,531.36.

The iEdge Singapore Next 50 Index slid 0.5 per cent or 7.54 points to 1,440.75.

Across the broader market, decliners trailed gainers 236 to 301. About 976.9 million securities valued at nearly S$1.2 billion were transacted.

The slight drop in the STI reflected a cautious trading day driven mainly by global worries, said Charmaine Tan, research analyst of the research and portfolio management team at FSMOne Singapore.

She noted that the decline in US private-sector employment was unexpected and raised concerns that the US economy may be slowing. This has led investors in Asia, including Singapore, to take a more cautious approach.

Asia had a mixed showing. The FTSE Bursa Malaysia KLCI and Jakarta Composite Index were among those that slipped, but Shanghai Composite Index and South Korea's KOSPI rose.

Over in Singapore, Fraser's Property's share price hit a 52-week high of S$1.10, after rising 2.8 per cent or S$0.03.

The property developer's last regulatory filing on Nov 28 reported on the redeeming of perpetual securities worth S$300 million.

Wee Hur rose 0.7 per cent or

S$0.005 to S$0.715, a day after the developer announced a seven-party joint venture to develop its land parcel in Upper Thomson Road.

WH Property, a wholly owned subsidiary, will take a controlling 50 per cent stake. The tender was awarded at a sale price of about S$614 million, for a lease term of 99 years.

Netflix to buy Warner Bros Discovery's studios, streaming unit for US$72b

NETFLIX has agreed to buy Warner Bros Discovery's TV and film studios and streaming division for US$72 billion, a deal that would hand control of one of Hollywood's most prized and oldest assets to the streaming pioneer that has upended the media industry.

The agreement – announced on Friday (Dec 5) – follows a weeks-long bidding war where Netflix seized the lead with a nearly US$28-a-share offer that eclipsed Paramount Skydance's nearly US$24 bid for the whole of Warner Bros Discovery, including the cable TV assets slated for a spinoff.

Warner Bros Discovery shares closed at US$24.5 on Thursday, giving it a market value of US$61 billion.

Buying the owner of marquee franchises including Game of Thrones, DC Comics and Harry Potter will further tilt the power balance in Hollywood in favour of the streaming giant that built its dominance without major acquisitions or a large content library, helping its efforts to ward off competition from Walt Disney and the Ellison family-backed Paramount.

"Together, we can give audiences more of what they love and help define the next century of storytelling," Netflix co-CEO Ted Sarandos said in a statement.

Analysts have said Netflix is driven by a desire to lock up long-term rights to hit shows and films and rely less on outside studios as it expands into gaming and looks for new avenues of growth after the success of its password-sharing crackdown.

But the deal will likely face strong antitrust scrutiny in Europe and the US as it would give the world's biggest streaming service ownership of a rival that is home to HBO Max and boasts nearly 130 million streaming subscribers. David Ellison-led Paramount, which kicked off the bidding war with a series of unsolicited offers and has close ties with the Trump administration, questioned the sale process this week in a letter alleging favourable treatment for Netflix.

Netflix said it expects to generate at least US$2 billion to US$3 billion in annual cost savings by the third year, after the deal closes. REUTERS
