Singapore shares fall amid mixed regional showing; STI drops 0.3%

Across the broader market, gainers trail losers 250 to 257

SINGAPORE stocks ended lower on Tuesday (Oct 27) as regional indices put up a mixed performance.

The benchmark Straits Times Index (STI) lost 0.3 per cent or 18.88 points to finish at 5,397.03.

DFI Retail Group led the gainers on Singapore's blue-chip index, rising 5 per cent or US$0.17 to US$3.55.

The worst performer among STI constituents was Thai Beverage (ThaiBev), which fell 3.4 per cent or S$0.015 to S$0.425.

The three local banks ended mixed on Tuesday. OCBC rose 0.04 per cent or S$0.01 to S$28.96 and UOB was up 0.2 per cent or S$0.07 at S$41.37. DBS finished 0.4 per cent or S$0.29 lower at S$73.92.

Within the iEdge Singapore Next 50 Index, UOB Kay Hian was the top gainer, rising 5.7 per cent or S$0.17 to S$3.16, while Aims Apac Reit was the biggest decliner, falling 3.6 per cent or S$0.05 to S$1.35.

> "China's tightening of capital and tax policies in H2 2026, including new offshore trust tax rules, has hurt investor sentiment badly."
> Richard Tang, head equity research analyst Asia, Julius Baer

Across the broader market, gainers trailed losers 250 to 257, after 933.4 million securities worth S$1.4 billion changed hands.

Key regional indices were mixed.

Japan's Nikkei 225 rose 1.7 per cent, South Korea's Kospi was up 3.1 per cent and the FTSE Bursa Malaysia KLCI advanced 0.5 per cent. Meanwhile, Hong Kong's Hang Seng Index lost 0.7 per cent and the Shanghai Composite Index fell 1.3 per cent.

Richard Tang, head equity research analyst Asia at Julius Baer, noted "accelerated declines" in Chinese equities in recent weeks.

He attributed these dips to three factors.

"First, China's tightening of capital and tax policies in H2 2026, including the new outbound direct investment regulatory framework and the new offshore trust tax rules, has hurt investor sentiment badly," he said.

"Second, investors have grown more pessimistic about economic growth expectations for next year, as export growth will likely slow due to increasing trade barriers, while the phase-out of the pre-sale system may lead to a sharp decline in property investments.

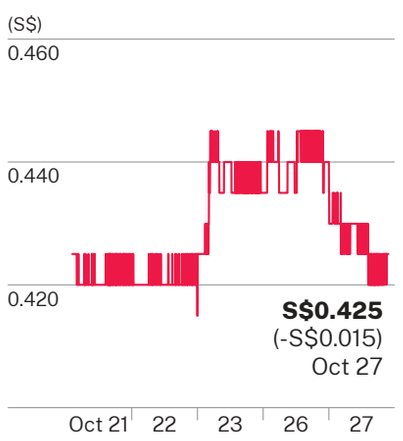

"Third, China's reporting season did not start on a strong note, with earnings misses by several notable large-cap stocks."

Greenback firms ahead of central bank meetings

THE US dollar nudged higher on the euro, yen and pound on Tuesday (Oct 27), as traders braced for a barrage of major central bank meetings that will shape the interest-rate outlook, as well as key corporate earnings that could ripple through all asset classes.

The Federal Reserve is set to announce its latest policy decision on Wednesday, the European Central Bank is up on Thursday, and the Bank of Japan rounds out the week on Friday.

All three are expected to keep rates on hold, so the focus will be on any hints policymakers give on their outlook.

Also helping the dollar, especially on safe havens such as the yen and Swiss franc, was greater calm in the equity market, which was roiled last week by renewed worries about high-flying artificial intelligence stocks.

Francesco Pesole, currency analyst at ING, said: "The dollar has found good support early this week, as stabilising AI-related sentiment has allowed markets to reconnect with the broader supportive backdrop of a hawkish (Fed) and high energy prices."

The US currency was up 0.16 per cent on the yen at 157.73, the euro slid 0.17 per cent to US$1.1154 and the pound dipped 0.14 per cent to US$1.3324.

Pesole also said he thought markets were positioning ahead of the Fed meeting, anticipating chair Kevin Warsh will reiterate his commitment to fighting inflation, something that will reinforce the floor under the dollar.

Several other factors are in the mix as well.

A key gauge of Japan's service-sector inflation rose 3.7 per cent in September from the year-ago period, data showed on Tuesday, a sign of increasing price pressures that will likely keep the central bank on track for further interest-rate hikes.

Also in Japan, Finance Minister Satsuki Katayama said on Tuesday the government stood ready to take decisive action in the currency market, reminding markets of Tokyo's willingness to intervene to prop up its currency.

The broader market story will also be tested by a number of corporate earnings this week, including from AI hyperscalers Alphabet, Microsoft and Amazon.com.

The yen was among the best-performing major currencies last week, strengthening around 0.75 per cent on the dollar, its most since early September.

This is as AI jitters in the equity market spurred a rush into the currency.

Meanwhile, the euro was on track to be the worst-performing developed market currency in October, down 1.5 per cent on the dollar, bruised by high energy costs, the volatility in French government bonds and worries about France's fiscal position.

The Reserve Bank of New Zealand (RBNZ) and the Bank of Canada also announce their policy decisions on Wednesday, with both expected to raise interest rates.

The RBNZ meets on Wednesday, and the New Zealand dollar was outperforming ahead of that, up 0.1 per cent on the dollar on Tuesday at US$0.5687.

The Canadian dollar was steady at US$1.4021 to its US counterpart. REUTERS
