Singapore shares edge up 0.3% on Friday to end week higher

SINGAPORE stocks closed higher on Friday (Apr 10), capping the week on a firmer note. The benchmark Straits Times Index (STI) rose 0.3 per cent, or 12.33 points, to 4,989.41, bringing its gain to 0.7 per cent from the previous week's close on Apr 2.

The three local banks ended in positive territory. DBS was up 0.3 per cent, or S$0.15, at S$57.35. OCBC climbed 1.3 per cent, or S$0.28, to S$22.47, and UOB edged up 0.2 per cent, or S$0.09, to S$37.39.

Singapore Exchange was the top performer on the blue-chip index, rising 3.8 per cent, or S$0.78, to S$21.09. DFI Retail Group was the worst-performing STI constituent, dropping 4.9 per cent, or US$0.22, to US$4.29.

On Friday, DBS Group Research analyst Lim Rui Wen raised her 12-month target price for SGX to S$22.50 and maintained a "buy" call on the stock. The revision reflects structural shifts in Singapore's bourse, as well as safe-haven inflows linked to the de-dollarisation trend, Lim wrote in a report.

haven inflows are structural in nature, and anticipate continued flows into Singapore, particularly for yield stocks," she added.

Across the broader market, gainers outnumbered losers 380 to 201, with 4.4 billion securities worth S$1.9 billion traded.

Regional markets also ended higher. Hong Kong's Hang Seng Index rose 0.6 per cent, Japan's Nikkei 225 gained 1.8 per cent, South Korea's Kospi advanced 1.4 per cent, and Malaysia's FTSE Bursa Malaysia KLCI added 0.3 per cent.

"Asian equities pushed higher into the close, extending their first weekly gain since the Middle East conflict began," on Feb 28, said Stephen Innes, managing partner at SPI Asset Management, in a Friday note.

"As the week closes, the tone is constructive but fragile. This is not a market celebrating resolution; it is a market renting optimism into the weekend, part conviction, part mechanics, fully aware that the bill gets settled when the screens light up again," he added.

China widens access for innovative startups to list on ChiNext board

CHINA'S securities regulator on Friday (Apr 10) unveiled a fourth set of listing standards for the ChiNext board, expanding access for technology startups as Beijing steps up efforts to support home-grown innovation amid heightened competition with Washington.

The measures aim to improve funding for startups in emerging and future industries, according to guidelines released by the China Securities Regulatory Commission (CSRC) on deepening reforms of the ChiNext board, Shenzhen's startup board for growth companies.

The move comes as competition between Beijing and Washington over semiconductors, artificial intelligence and other advanced technologies intensifies, with China seeking to bolster financing channels for domestic innovation.

"These companies generally have characteristics such as large upfront investments, low starting revenues and rapid value appreciation, and urgently need more efficient and better-matched financial support from the capital market," the CSRC said.

The new set of listing standards comprises two criteria. One primarily targets emerging industry enterprises and requires companies to have an expected market value of at least three billion yuan ($559.8 million), revenue of at least 200 million yuan in the most recent year, and a compound annual revenue growth rate of at least 30 per cent over the past three years.

The expansion follows ChiNext's adoption of a third set of standards in June last year to support innovative companies that have yet to make a profit, in addition to two standards for profit-making domestic enterprises.

The regulator also said it would leverage the role of local governments, and allow them to recommend companies planning to list on ChiNext.

The regulator added it would support listed companies in issuing technology innovation bonds, green bonds and other financing products. REUTERS
