Singapore banks finish lower; STI down 0.4%

Across the broader market, gainers edged out losers 317 to 296, after 1.6b securities worth S$2.5b change hands. BY BENICIA TAN SHARES on the Singapore bourse slipped on Tuesday (Feb 24), as the three local banks all finished the trading day lower.

The benchmark Straits Times Index (STI) lost 0.4 per cent or 20.54 points to finish at 5,020.79. Meanwhile, the iEdge Singapore Next 50 Index gained 0.4 per cent or 6.48 points to 1,526.98.

Across the broader market, gainers edged out losers 317 to 296, after 1.6 billion securities worth S$2.5 billion changed hands.

UOB led losses among STI constituents, falling 4.1 per cent or S$1.60 to close at S$37.20.

Shares of UOB hit a one-month low in early trade on Tuesday after the bank posted a 7 per cent decline in fourth-quarter profit.

The lender's net profit for the quarter ended Dec 31 fell to S$1.41 billion amid margin pressures from lower benchmark rates, missing the S$1.44 billion consensus estimate of a Bloomberg poll.

UOB also cut its 2026 fee income growth outlook to high single digits, from an earlier high single to double-digit target, citing more conservative loan growth targets and macroeconomic uncertainty.

The other local banks also slipped. DBS lost 0.5 per cent to finish at S$57.86, while OCBC declined 1.2 per cent to finish at S$21.43.

Meanwhile, Yangzijiang Shipbuilding led the gainers on Singapore's blue-chip index, rising 2.6 per cent or S$0.10 to end at S$3.96.

Key regional indices were mixed. Hong Kong's Hang Seng Index lost 1.8 per cent and the FTSE Bursa Malaysia KLCI declined 0.2 per cent.

Japan's Nikkei 225 index rose 0.9 per cent while South Korea's Kospi was up 2.1 per cent.

Yen slips on Japan PM's rate-hike reservations

THE yen weakened on Tuesday (Feb 24) after a report said Japanese Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi had conveyed her reservations about further interest-rate hikes to Bank of Japan (BOJ) governor Kazuo Ueda, while China's renminbi hit its highest in nearly three years.

The Japanese currency fell 0.72 per cent to 155.72 per US dollar, touching its lowest in two weeks. The report from The Mainichi Daily also sent Japanese government bond yields lower.

The report injected fresh uncertainty into a complicated policy backdrop for the BOJ, which has been battling a weaker currency that has raised the costs of imported fuel and food.

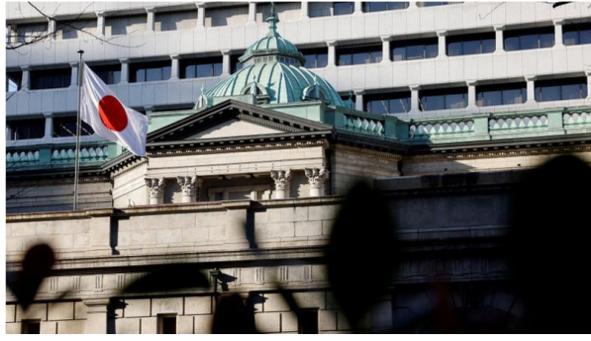

Before the report, the majority of economists polled by Reuters had expected the central bank to raise rates to 1 per cent by end-June, while markets had priced in a roughly 70 per cent chance of a hike by April.

"It puts to the test the view that a corner has been turned in the yen," said Kenneth Broux, head of corporate research, FX and rates at Societe Generale. "If the government is lobbying the central bank, doubts again re-emerge over the independence of the central bank."

Takaichi reiterated in parliament that there are pluses and minuses to a weak currency. China's export controls on Japanese companies also added to the pressure. The yen slipped more broadly, falling 0.7 per cent to 183.52 per euro.

The currency has been on the radar of US authorities. Nikkei reported that the New York Federal Reserve, acting on behalf of the US Treasury Department, took the lead in conducting so-called rate checks last month to prop up Japan's currency without a request from Tokyo.

"It tells you that Japan is not overly concerned (about the yen), even though (it has) been intervening verbally to manage the pace of the slide in the yen," Broux said.

The Supreme Court ruled on Friday that US President Donald Trump's use of a 1977 emergency law to impose tariffs exceeded his authority. On Tuesday, China's renminbi rose to its strongest against the greenback since April 2023, as traders returning from a nine-day holiday bet that the ruling will bolster Chinese exports.

The currency was last trading 0.33 per cent higher at 6.88 per US dollar.

However, Trump invoked a different law and imposed a new levy on all imports hours later. He also warned countries against retreating from recent trade deals after the Supreme Court struck down his emergency tariffs.

The renewed trade uncertainties come as doubts creep into finanical markets about the sustainability of massive investments in artificial intelligence, and as Federal Reserve policymakers express concerns about elevated inflation.

Traders are also focused on rising geopolitical tensions. The State Department is pulling out non-essential government personnel from the US embassy in Beirut, amid growing concerns about the risk of a military conflict with Iran.

The euro was flat at US$1.1780, and sterling was little changed at US$1.3485. The European Parliament decided on Monday to postpone a vote on the European Union's trade deal with the US due to the new import tax.

In cryptocurrencies, Bitcoin fell 2.1 per cent to US$63,205.18, and Ether declined 2 per cent to US$1,824.54. REUTERS
