Singapore's benchmark index closes above 5,000 for first time in three weeks

The Straits Times Index gains 1.3% or 66.2 points to finish at 5,002.17. BY RENALD YEO

SINGAPORE stocks ended higher on Wednesday (Mar 18), closing above the 5,000-point mark for the first time since the conflict in the Middle East began three weeks ago.

The benchmark Straits Times Index (STI) gained 1.3 per cent or 66.2 points to finish at 5,002.17. Meanwhile, the iEdge Singapore Next 50 Index rose 0.9 per cent or 12.41 points to 1,457.76.

UOL led the gainers on Singapore's blue-chip index, rising 4.9 per cent or S$0.48 to end at S$10.20, with the counter trading on a cum-dividend basis.

The worst performer among STI constituents was Singtel, which fell 0.8 per cent or S$0.04 to close at S$5.13.

The three local banks ended higher. DBS gained 1.2 per cent or S$0.68 to S$57.76, OCBC rose 1.7 per cent or S$0.35 to S$21.45, and UOB was up 0.9 per cent or S$0.33 at S$37.21.

On the iEdge Singapore Next 50 Index, China Aviation Oil was the top gainer, rising 8.9 per cent or S$0.18 to S$2.21. Singapore Post was the biggest loser, falling 2.8 per cent or S$0.01 to end the session at S$0.345.

Across the broader market, gainers outnumbered losers 431 to 200, after 1.7 billion securities worth S$2.2 billion changed hands.

The broad gains in Asian equity markets on Wednesday mirror a similar rise in US and European stocks, said Neil Wilson, UK investor strategist at Saxo Markets.

"Broadly, equities are bouncing off levels because oil looks to be stabilising," he noted. "Intraday pullbacks suggest immediate physical worries are not materialising yet, and so stock markets are breathing easier as energy shock impact fades."

Market movements are also indicating that the US Federal Reserve "won't be looking to cut (rates) until September at the earliest", he added, ahead of the Federal Open Market Committee's upcoming meeting on Thursday morning Singapore time.

Currencies tread water as cooling oil rally calms markets

THE US dollar was little changed on Wednesday (Mar 18) as easing crude oil prices steadied currency markets ahead of a series of central bank meetings.

The greenback was steady versus the British pound and Japanese yen, which pulled back from levels where traders had braced for possible intervention by Tokyo ahead of a meeting in Washington between US President Donald Trump and Japanese Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi.

It was also flat against the euro, after two sessions of gains for the common currency as traders await the start of a two-day European Central Bank meeting.

The dollar has strengthened overall since the US and Israel attacked Iran almost three weeks ago, reaching a 10-month high late last week as the conflict and rising oil prices drove investors into safe-haven US assets.

With no sign of de-escalation, Brent futures prices have settled above US$100 a barrel for four consecutive sessions, though prices held steady on Wednesday after Iraqi and Kurdish authorities agreed to resume oil exports via Turkey's Ceyhan port.

Global stocks rose for a third day as steadier energy prices offered some relief.

"With the rise in crude oil prices appearing to pause for the moment, it's not as though conditions have improved dramatically, but for now, markets across the board seem to be recovering somewhat," said Hirofumi Suzuki, chief foreign exchange strategist at Sumitomo Mitsui Banking Corp.

"In the case of USD/yen, you could say it has moved a bit in the direction of yen strength."

The dollar index, which measures the greenback against six major peers, was roughly flat at 99.55. The euro was up less than 0.1 per cent at US$1.154.

Sterling was little changed at US$1.336, as was the yen at Japan's prime minister is due to depart on Wednesday for her meeting with Trump. Besides the US-Israeli war on Iran, Takaichi is likely to discuss a second round of Japanese investment in the US as part of tariff deals.

The US Federal Reserve will announce its policy decision on Wednesday, with the ECB, Bank of England and Bank of Japan following a day later.

They are all widely expected to maintain interest rates but traders will look for clues on where borrowing costs are heading amid a potential inflationary shock from the Middle East war.

Money markets broadly expect the Fed to cut rates once this year, compared with the two reductions priced in before the conflict.

"The focus will very much be on the potential implications on inflation stemming from the conflict in the Middle East," Derek Halpenny, a senior currency analyst at MUFG, said of the Fed's decision.

However, he added: "We would be surprised to see any big rates or FX moves this evening given the likelihood of a balanced communication with no strong signals."

The ECB is expected to raise interest rates in 2026, reversing expectations in February for the possibility of a further cut. REUTERS
