

The Price Is Right

Pick a budget card, and then based on that budget buy one item from each of the four categories (chocolate, ice cream, drinks, chips). The actual price of the items would not be stated, so the participant has to rely on contextual knowledge to make choices. If the total expenditure is below the budget, he wins the game and gets a prize.