Elevated crude prices rein in Singapore shares performance

ELEVATED crude prices reined in the performance of Singapore shares on Friday (Mar 13) as the Strait of Hormuz – the passageway that handles a fifth of the world's oil used for transportation – remains effectively shut.

Both the Straits Times Index (STI) and iEdge Singapore Next 50 Index closed lower, by 13.06 points or 0.3 per cent at 4,842.27, and 0.1 per cent or 1.57 points at 1,443.55, respectively.

The STI was 0.1 per cent lower than a week ago.

Defence and technology powerhouse ST Engineering was the worst STI performer at S$10.88, as it ended with a 2.4 per cent or S$0.27 drop.

DFI Retail Group was at the other end of the spectrum, having risen 4.2 per cent or US$0.19 to US$4.69.

The banking trio all ended lower. OCBC closed 0.6 per cent or S$0.12 lower at S$20.63, and DBS inched down 0.1 per cent or S$0.06 to S$55.31.

UOB dipped 0.2 per cent or S$0.08 to S$36.16.

Satellite communications company Addvalue Technologies rose 2.5 per cent or S$0.002 to S$0.081, after the mainboard-listed company announced plans to unlock market value from its Inter-Satellite Data Relay System (IDRS) business.

Decliners beat gainers 313 to 266 across the broader market, with 1.4 billion securities worth S$1.8 billion transacted.

Private banking and asset management group LGT said investors remained unsettled by the war in the Middle East, as elevated oil prices – owing to output cannot be transported out via the effectively closed Strait of Hormuz – fanned inflation fears.

HSBC, Standard Chartered to get stablecoin licences in Hong Kong

HSBC and Standard Chartered are set to be among the first licensed stablecoin issuers in Hong Kong, giving two of the city's note-issuing banks a central role in the government's effort to become a digital-asset hub.

The two banks will be in the first batch of approvals as authorities prioritise institutions already authorised to issue banknotes, according to sources familiar with the matter.

The Hong Kong Monetary Authority (HKMA) prefers bank-led stablecoin issuers because they are well capitalised and can provide greater safety while promoting broader adoption, the sources said.

Standard Chartered declined to comment, and HSBC did not immediately respond to a request for comment. The HKMA said that it does not comment on market rumours.

The city's de facto central bank said last month that the first stablecoin licences could be issued as early as March and that it had received 36 applications.

News of the banks' impending approval was previously reported by the South China Morning Post.

Hong Kong has been pushing ahead with ambitions to become a crypto hub through a series of regulatory measures first announced in 2022. In addition to introducing a licence for cryptocurrency exchanges, the government announced plans to licence issuers of stablecoins, a type of cryptocurrency designed to maintain a consistent value with backing from another asset, typically US dollars.

Hong Kong requires any issuers of Hong Kong dollar-backed stablecoins to be licensed by the HKMA.

In 2024, the government initiated a sandbox for stablecoin issuers. Participants included a Standard Chartered joint venture with Animoca Brands and Hong Kong Telecommunications, as well as Jingdong Coinlink Technology and RD InnoTech.

Hong Kong policymakers have said only a "small number" of licences would initially be approved to ensure stablecoins have real-world use cases, and that issuers maintain sustainable business models with strong regulatory compliance. BLOOMBERG
